To Lillian,
now in Heaven, I dedicate this little volume which she helped to make.

 ONE of the pleasantest returns to the writer for his labor in compiling this little work has been the many courtesies he has received from his kinsmen and friends all over the world, who have generously aided in making this record what it is. To them, one and all, he offers sincere thanks. But he feels especially indebted to the following for the assistance they have freely and frequently given :

CAPT. CHARLES D. PARKHURST, of Fortress Monroe, Va.

MR. WALTER CUSHING PARKHURST, of Baltimore, Md.

MR. EDSON SALISBURY JONES, of Port Chester, N. Y.

DR. LEWIS EVANS PARKHURST, M. A., of London, Eng.

REV. WILLIAM H. PARKHURST, of Cape Colony, S. Africa.

English Family.

THE word "Parkhurst" is of Norman and French derivation, being composed of "parc" (French for park) and "hurst" (the Anglo-Saxon for wood). The family name dates back to the entrance of William the Conqueror in England, and the derivation of the word suggests that it was contemporaneous with the beginning of French influence in England. The word "Parkhurst" first appears in the Domesday book, published in 1086, which mentions "Parkhurst forest" in the Isle of Wight. This was the earliest recorded royal park, a district of three thousand acres, nominally held by the government. It was, however, a public common, and was enclosed in 1815, eleven hundred and fifty acres being reserved by the crown as a nursery for navy timber. Near this is a village called Parkhurst, and a few miles away is Osborne House, Queen Victoria's winter residence. [Murray's Handbook of Surrey, Hants and the Isle of Wight, (1876) page 427.]

The family emigrated from the Isle of Wight between four and five hundred years ago, and built "Parkhurst Manor," in Surrey County, England, between Epsom and Guilford. Here is where we find the earliest authentic record of the family, in George Parkhurst, of Guilford, who was the father of Bishop John Parkhurst, born at Guilford, Surrey County, in 1511. George Parkhurst was living at Guilford the latter part of the XVth century. George Parkhurst, Jr., of Watertown, Mass., named his oldest son John, and this custom has been continued by his descendants, including the present generation. Dr. Lewis E. Parkhurst, of London, who belongs to the Guilford (Surrey County) branch, states that there has been a similar custom of naming the eldest son John in his family, in England, for many generations.

Parkhurst Manor, about twenty-five miles south of London, between Epsom and Guilford, remained in possession of the family until 1745. In 1629, Sir Robert Parkhurst, who was afterward Lord Mayor of London, held his court there. From Surrey County the family seems to have divided into four branches, viz: Guilford, Norfolk, London and Catesby, whose coats-of-arms are identical, showing beyond question their common ancestry. From which one of these branches the American family sprang has not yet been conclusively proved, but in all probability George Parkhurst, of Guilford, Surrey County, was the great grand-father of George Parkhurst, who settled in Watertown, Mass. The name George appears almost exclusively in this branch, as well as the name John, which first comes into the family with Bishop John Parkhurst in 1511-1512. We find the same combination of family names in this branch, which exists in the American family, namely: George Parkhurst, naming his son George, and George Parkhurst, Jr., naming his son John. The names George and John appear very rarely, if at all, in the other branches of the English family.

Manning and Bray's History of Surrey, Vol. 1, shows the following Parkhursts living in Guilford:

George Parkhurst, Sr., 30 Henry VIII (1539).

George Parkhurst, Jr., 30 Henry VIII (1539), page 32.

Henry Parkhurst, Mayor of Guilford, 1573, page 39.

Thomas Parkhurst, Mayor of Guilford, 1604, 1609, 1615, 1623, 1634, page 39.

George Parkhurst, father of Bishop John, page 79.

Bishop John Parkhurst was a "Bachelor of Divinitie" at Oxford in 1529. Three years later he entered holy orders, though more fond of poetry and oratory than divinity. At length he became rector of the rich church of Clive, in Gloucestershire, where he did much good by his hospitality and charity. Soon after the death of King Edward, on account of his liberal views he incurred the displeasure of Queen Mary, and was for a time in danger of his life. He went into exile at Zurich, Switzerland, during the remainder of her reign. Returning to England, he was appointed Bishop of Norwich by Queen Elizabeth in 1560, which he held until his death, February 2d, 1574. (Visitation of Norfolk, 1563, Norfolk Arch. Soc., Vol. 2, page 15.) He translated the "Apocrypha" in the Bible, commanded by Queen Elizabeth, and was the author of a number of Latin works, some of his unpublished manuscripts still remaining at the British Museum. His father's coat-of-arms was similar to that shown in the cut. The three crescents were added when John was elected bishop.

Another crest used by the Guilford (Surrey) and the Norfolk branches is a silver buck's head erased out of a palisado coronet of gold. For illustrations see Fairbank's crests, plates 128, No. 21; 66, No. 2; 67, No. 13; 68, No. 2; 49, No. 4.

Among the famous Parkhursts of the XVIIIth century was the Rev. John Parkhurst, of Catesby, Northamptonshire, England, who was the author of the first Greek lexicon, which is still in use. He died in 1797, without issue, and was buried in Epsom church, where there is a monument to his memory. The churches and churchyards of Epsom, Abinger, Dorking and Guilford, are rich in memorials of dead members of the Parkhurst family.

American Family.

- 1 George Parkhurst, founder of the Parkhurst family in this country, emigrated from England about 1635. He brought at least two children with him (George, Jr., and Phebe), and is known to have been living in Watertown, Mass., in 1642. He was probably a man of considerable means, for he owned a large tract of land, besides a homestead of twelve acres. In 1643 he was admitted freeman. He married his second wife, Susanna, widow of John Simpson, in 1645, by whom he had no children. The same year he sold his Watertown estate and moved to Boston. (Bond's Hist. Watertown, Mass., pages 388, 391.)

Register N. E. Hist. and Genealogical Society, Vol. 27, page 364, states that George Parkhurst had the following children :

- 2 GEORGE, JR., born in England about 1618; married (1st) Sarah Browne, December 16th, 1643.
- 3 BENJAMIN, born in England.
- 4 JOSEPH, he moved to Chelmsford, Mass., but at what date is uncertain. He was, however, living there from 1656 to 1667. He married Mary Read, of Chelmsford, at Concord, Mass., June 26th, 1656, and his name appears as one of the proprietors of the new field in Chelmsford. His share of twelve acres was allotted to him January 12th, 1666-7 (Allen's Hist. Chelmsford, page 169).
- 5 PHEBE, born in England; married Thomas Arnold in 1640.

THOMAS ARNOLD came to this country in May, 1635. He was admitted freeman in 1640. In October, 1651, he was fined twenty shillings by the court for offense against the law concerning baptism. April 2d, 1654, he was fined five pounds for neglecting public worship twenty days. April 2d, 1655, he was fined ten pounds for neglecting public worship forty days, and his land was levied upon to pay it (Bond's Hist. Watertown, Mass., page 9). He seems to have inherited his sturdy independence from his ancestors. Arnold was able to trace his ancestry back through seventeen generations to Ynir, King of Gwentland, A. D., 1100, who was a direct descendant of Wessex, who was king of the Britons from 688 to 728.

She died March 9th, 1680-1, and he died March 16th, 1698-9, aged 81 years. The old Parkhurst farm, where he probably settled, was on the east side of Beaver brook and north side of the County road, and the house stood a few rods east of the new cottage of Mr. Thomas Page ("Watertown"). He had two children by his first wife :

The location was covered by the embankment of the Boston and Worcester railroad in 1835. He was a member of the Training Band in Weston, April 18th, 1757. This service entitles his descendants to membership in the "Society of Colonial Wars" (Mass. Archives, Vol. 95, page 277). At two periods he lived in Marlborough N. John Parkhurst.

- 37 John Parkhurst, the son of Josiah Parkhurst, Jr. (30), and Elizabeth Bigelow, was born May 2d, 1760, at Weston, Mass. In 1762 his father moved from Weston to Framingham, Mass., which was his home during the Revolution. In the summer of 1777, when seventeen years of age, he joined the army. His first service was to guard Continental stores at East Sudbury. On April 1st, 1778, he re-enlisted in Captain Holmes' company, Colonel Jonathan Reed's regiment, being the first regiment of guards. His first duty was to guard British prisoners at Prospect Hill, Cambridge, who had been captured with General Burgoyne. He was discharged July 4th, 1778, and at once re-enlisted for six weeks, in the company commanded by Captain Amos Perry, of Sherburn. He went with the company to Providence and Lewiston, R. I., where his duty again consisted in guarding Continental stores. In August the company was engaged in building redoubts near Newport, R. I. July 24th, 1780, he enlisted in Captain Walter McFarland's company, of Colonel Cyprian Howe's regiment, Middlesex County regiment, for service in Rhode Island. The company went to Providence, guarding stores on College Hill. John Parkhurst was discharged October 30th, 1780 (Mass. Arch., Vol. 35, page 124; Vol. 21, page 111; Vol. 46, pages 13-14; Vol. 19, page 182).

This service entitles his descendants to membership in the societies of the "Sons of the American Revolution" and "Daughters of the American Revolution."

On December 17th, 1783, he married Sarah Bullard, who died February 8th, 1818, at Springfield, Pa. In 1813, John Parkhurst, in company with William Evans, left New Hampshire to find a new home in the West. They would have settled in Monroe County, N. Y., but for the frontier troubles.

then existing. Turning southward, they finally located in Springfield, Bradford County, Pa., where they built a comfortable log house. They returned to New Hampshire for their families, and in the fall of 1813, after a hard journey of six weeks, they arrived at the log house. Work was immediately commenced on a better house, and two years later (1815) the present homestead was completed. It was the home of John Parkhurst until his death, in 1836, and is still occupied by his descendants. The house is a substantial structure, commanding a beautiful view of Mount Pisgah and adjacent valleys.

He kept a diary for thirty years, wherein he states that he was only prevented from enlisting the fourth time by ill health. His diary shows that he took great interest in the militia while he lived in New Hampshire. During the later years of his life in Springfield he was invariably known by the title of "Major." He was elected to this office in the general training bands, which were annually organized in that vicinity. Mrs. Martha Bullock, who knew John Parkhurst in her childhood, still remembers seeing him with epaulettes on his shoulders, and a long black feather, tipped with red, in his hat.

Although a physician by profession, there is no record that he was ever in active practice. His life seems to have been occupied in farming, although he conducted a general store for some years at Marlborough, N. H. His diary reveals many characteristics of his sturdy life. Under date of July 20th, 1811, it contains the following excellent advice, upon the occasion of his paying $1,905.16 for having endorsed a friend's note: "So that it appears that I am this sum the poorer for dealing with one dishonest man, which I did merely to oblige him, without any promise, or even prospect, of reward, which I hope will be sufficient warning to all (my family, at least) never to be bound for any man without ample security; and again I say, not without ample security."

John Parkhurst was an active member of the church. He was a man of strong political views, and contributed to the various periodicals of the time. In appearance he is remembered as a distinguished-looking man, with keen blue eyes, white hair, and a refined manner. He died November 1st, 1836, sitting in the rocking chair which he had brought with him from New Hampshire, and was buried at Springfield. He had nine children, all by his first wife, Sarah Bullard. The first two were born in Framingham, the rest in Marlborough. He married (2d), October 31st, 1822, Margaret Randel, of Canton, Pa. The nine children were:

After his uncle's death the name of the bank was changed, and he carried on the business with his son, Luin K. Parkhurst, and Charles L. Pattison, a son-in-law of Joel Parkhurst. 51 Dr. Curtis Parkhurst, son of John Parkhurst (37) and Sarah Bullard, was born July 2d, 1794, at Marlborough, N. H. At the age of sixteen he began to teach school, studying in the meantime to prepare himself for college. He graduated from Dartmouth Medical College at Hanover, N. H., in 1819. He settled at Lawrenceville, Pa., and at once began the practice of his profession. After ten years of active work, ill health compelled him to retire from general practice.

In 1828-9 he represented the counties of Lycoming, Potter, McKean and Tioga, in the Legislature. In 1829-30 Bradford and Tioga Counties formed a district, and he was their representative. In 1840 he was elected sheriff of Tioga County, and served from 1841 until 1844.

On the 15th day of March, 1847, Francis P. Shenk, Governor of Pennsylvania, appointed him to be the Associate Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Tioga County for five years. He was largely instrumental in the building of the Tioga railroad, from Corning, N. Y., to Blossburg, Pa., as an outlet for the Blossburg coal mines, in which Ex-Governor Horatio Seymour, of Deerfield, N. Y., and others, were interested as co-partners.

While sheriff he lived at Wellsboro, and while there the first Presbyterian meeting in that village was held in the court house, his wife (our mother) ringing the court house bell for the service. Soon after a Presbyterian church was established there, in which he took a great interest. He often lectured, and was a ready speaker and debater. A sturdy Democrat in politics, he kept himself well informed on all topics of the day. He was a quiet and retiring man in manner, and a life-long member of the Presbyterian church.

On November 11th, 1830, he married Jane Ann Kasson, of Syracuse, N. Y. She was born at North Adams, Mass., April 5th, 1811, the daughter of Ambrose Kasson and Laura Hall. Her parents moved to Syracuse about 1816, and later to Deerfield, N. Y. Her grandfather was Calvin Hall, of Chester, Mass., who was born in 1760. He served twice in the Revolution: at Fort Ann, on Lake Champlain, in 1777, in Colonel Lemuel Parkhurst.

John Brown's regiment, and in the same regiment in 1780, where he was engaged in the battle of Stone Arabia, N. Y., October 19th, 1780, in which the colonel and forty of his regiment were killed.

Curtis Parkhurst died at the homestead in Lawrenceville, Pa., on June 5th, 1872. He was survived fifteen years by his wife, who died at Lawrenceville, October 20th, 1887.
